

Never Pale

written by Dennis Roth (2000)

Verse 1

Have you ever been a child in growing time?
Tears run down my cheek while faces smile
Is there little more than enemies and friends?
The hidden hate while shaking hands

Verse 2

Do you realize that life is more than shortly wasted breath?
Do they understand why you refused to laugh?
Oh I'm so sad because I know
That all things will have an end

Chorus

My memories will never pale
Forgettin' them is such a shame
After all this time
There's noone left to blame

Verse 3

Have you ever been a child in growing time?
Tears run down my cheek while faces smile
Oh I'm so sad because I know
That all things will have an end
